“In response to the COVID-19 crisis, the Port Authority has dramatically cut back services at the airport, reduced operations at PATH, moved to all electronic tolling and in total made over $200 million in immediate cuts and reductions. The agency has consolidated operational footprints across its facilities, including the closure of more than 100 gates as well as some concourses and terminals at its airports.

“These compensation increases for 2019 were heavily driven by an increase in PAPD overtime costs primarily required to support the intense need for traffic management at LaGuardia Airport during the peak of construction.”
